Problem

Inconvenience!

We can find the answers that we need in the various Android Applications on the phone, but they are too scattered! Nobody wants to repeat this action: open and close

Background

Compared with the past (Figure 1), more parents choose to let their children study abroad.

Process and results

According to this problem, the best way is to pick the essence and throw its shortcoming. And then put them together. Finally, the new Android application will be created by Java and Android Studio and international students' studying abroad will be more convenient
